PATTERNLAB WIREFRAMING TOOLKIT

GUIDELINES

This toolkit contains the various design elements available in the new OSU templates. These patterns (called snippets in Omni) will help you quickly prototype different pages within your site.

Always think about your user first. Consider the content they need when landing on a page, then select the appropriate snippets for presenting this information.

These patterns are designed to be printed and cut out so they can be mixed and matched to create pages for your site. When cutting patterns, you can only make cuts using the dotted lines and you must use the whole pattern. You may not cut out part of one snippet (like a button) to mix with part of another snippet.

Snippets can be used on a page more than once if it makes sense to do so. Some items included in this toolkit, like the header and footer, can only be displayed in specific regions (at the top and bottom of the page, respectively).

CLAMP

The "clamp" includes the required top and bottom pieces to every web page. These are your top navigation and footer elements.

If your site lives on the main go.okstate.edu site, use the main OSU Header and Footer. If you are a college or department, use the College Header and Alternate Footer. Finally, if your site lives on Extension or a similar partner site, use the Alternate Header and Alternate Footer. If you are a department within a larger site (a college site, for example), you can add an additional Department Footer directly above the Alternate Footer for department-specific information.

HERO AND HEADING CAPTION

The "hero" and "heading caption" snippets go in the "top content" editing region of the page. The hero snippet has different variation styles. Choose the variation that best fits the content and overall design of that page.
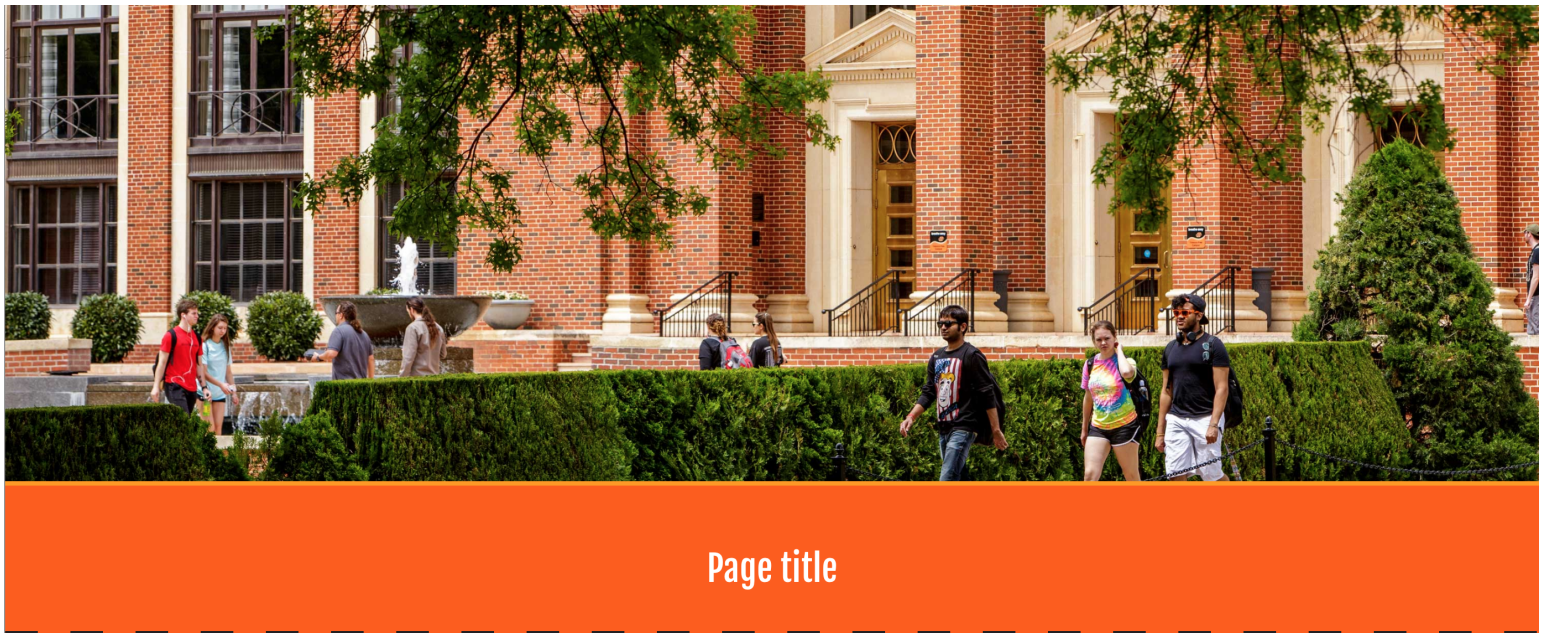

The "heading" area of the hero snippet can contain either the page title (preferred) or a short 1–4 word tagline or message. The image should fit whatever variation you choose. In order to make sure that your images are cropped appropriately, please refer to the "Image Size Guidelines" sheet included in the back of this toolkit.

Heading caption snippets are for longer introduction statements and should be placed beneath the hero snippet. Your heading caption should be limited to 25 words or less.

FEATURED

Featured snippets are meant to be eye-catching visual elements with very little body copy.

They should be used sparingly within a page to maintain their visual impact and site editors should be careful with any customization.

MAIN CONTENT REGION

The main content region is mostly built for plain text, but there are a few snippets that fit in this area to help stylize the page.

These include the Accordion, Alert, Black Box, Headline Group, Pretty Video, Table, Testimonial, and Two Column snippets.

It's important to remember that header styles organize content both visually and in the back end as well. So headers must be used in sequential order. Always start with a Header 1 (or Header 2 if you have a Hero snippet in the Top Content region of the page).
